OLD JUDAS.

Self-preservation is a natural law, and the bondsmen did no more than any of us would have done, when they fought for time and ALL THAT TIME MEANT.—Chameleon Nutty Walker, December 4, 1914.

Yet, the bondsmen were "fighting for time and all that time meant," when they were offering to restore every dollar the county had lost by the bank failure; when the Herald was the only paper in the county to defend them, Old Nutty Walker was denouncing them as "robbers and thieves," demanding that they be sued without DELAY, prosecuted, sent to the penitentiary and damned into eternal perdition. Now, after all his mischief, after all his lies, he says "the bondsmen did no more than any of us would have done."

This is exactly what the Herald said at the time and says now. In the face of the most villainous anarchal rage that was ever raised in the county we stood for the truth and are still standing for it. We have not budged an inch, nor do we expect to. They can all see now that the Herald was right. Every paper in the county is endorsing the stand we took, after it is too late. Had the truth been supported at the time we fought for it, when all the other papers ran under the floor and could not be induced to either whimper or whine, the county might have received from the bondsmen $442,000 instead of the $25,000 settlement which Old Nutty Walker claims the entire responsibility of. Whatever the county loses, if anything in the final adjustment, some time in the future, too far off to anticipate, every dollar of it can be charged to this fellow Nutty Walker, who made it impossible for the bondsmen to do more.

In the same issue of his paper we find the quotation above, is also contained this remarkable statement:

"The honest people of the county are behind The Critic and The Critic is in FRONT of them, so if you don't want to get run over get out of the way."

If that is not an insult to the honest people of this county we don't think they can be insulted. It is a great combination—all the honest people behind this old crook and he in front of them, shouting to the public, "get out of the way or get run over."

When this kind of clatter is heard it is time for all decent and self respecting people to quietly withdraw to a safe distance and beware. Certainly he should be given all the room he needs. The very touch of his garments or the blight of his breath is sufficient to blast all that is noble, good and true.

As it happens, we know a few honest people in this county who are neither behind nor in front of this raging terror, nor can they be scared or bulldozed by his bluffs. In fact, if any honest people are behind this old crook and he is in front of them, they must be like the cattle which follow an old ox called "Judas" that has done service at the great Chicago slaughter pens for the past ten years.

stain the Mississippi river with vermilion from St. Louis to New Orleans. Old Judas knows the route and is not frightened by the smell of blood or the ever narrowing passage that leads to the butcher's knife. He treads this way many times a day, serenely chewing his cud, knowing that he will be rewarded with a big feed. He is a great leader, Old Judas is. All the honest cattle are behind him and he in front of them, but the honest cattle are never seen or heard of again in their natural state. While those behind him lose their hair and hide, their hoofs and flesh, Old Judas comes around leading another bunch of his followers.

If there is a single honest person behind Old Nutty he is behind the same kind of an old steer that the unsuspecting cattle follow in the Chicago slaughter pens. If you are behind him, very close behind him, and can't realize your predicament, you have plenty of time in the future to reflect over your folly, for just so sure as the sun shines you will realize your error.

NEWS FROM HOME.

H. L. Stanley of Campbell, the largest piano dealer in Southeast Missouri, was in this city Saturday, looking after his business interests. Mr. Stanley is well and favorably known here, and has sold many of his excellent instruments in this county. In our conversation with him we learned that a few nights before he shared the hospitality of our old and good friend, Hunter Buck, at Halls, Tenn., and incidentally, the conversation drifted to the editor of the Herald, and the trip of Arthur Allen, I. Kohn's flunkey, negro-loving harlot and "Mason" to Tennessee in quest of the "past history" of the man he had personally known and had been intimately acquainted with since his infancy, and the good people of Halls, Tennessee, are still waiting for "Mr." Allen to put in his appearance in that city, so that they can give him the reception he so richly deserves. Of course there are Masons at Halls, plenty of them, but they are MASONS, and the man with a dishonorable purpose cannot fool them. Where we are not known—where the people do not know the facts, of course the designing cloak of hypocrisy with which a man might clothe himself might not be suspected and the honor he would be supposed to represent might be unwittingly accepted, as was the case with Arthur Allen at Ripley and Memphis, Tennessee, where he was rendered "valuable assistance" in getting statements which were far from facts; but where the facts are known, and where the humble editor of the meek and lowly Hayti Herald is known, we could neither ask for or expect a greater safeguard against harm than every true Mason would show us. It should be a most benignant transgression for a man to use Masonry as a cloak to accomplish evil designs and gratify personal spite, envy and hate, to the detriment and shame of this ancient and noble order.

Why did not A. M. Dockery, Third Assistant Postmaster General of the United States, address his letter to "O. B. Davis, Section Foreman Frisco Railroad," instead of "Worshipful Master" of the Masonic lodge?

Don't bother about letting a case against you go by default. The judge will take it under "advisement."

We have nothing whatever to say nor do we care what O. B. Davis did as an individual to get Walker's libelous sheet entered to pass through the United States mails, nor do we think the Masonic lodge, outside of B. F. Allen, Arthur Allen, I. Kohn and a few others we might mention, would willingly agree for him to conduct his efforts in Old Nutty's behalf under the title of the "Worshipful Master" of the Masonic lodge. Our contention is that his act in permitting the lodge honors to be used, as has been done for several months past, is entirely unworthy and cannot by the lodge as a whole be tolerated or permitted to continue.

What's the use to go to court, when you can write the judge a letter?

BANK OF HAYTI

This bank is one of the pioneer banks of Pemiscot County. Only one bank in the county is older. For twelve years it has solicited and safely guarded the savings of the people of this community, and by its conservatism and prudent management has held its position as one of the leading financial institutions of this section.

Financial Storms Have Tested Its Safety. Prosperous Years Have Tried Its Conservatism. Through Every Condition It Has Stood Firm. No Less Carefully Managed In Good Times Than In Panics.
